UPDATE FOLLOWING TYPHOON KAI-TAK

Asian Citrus, the largest orange plantation owner and operator in China, announces that the Company is not aware of any material damage to its orange trees in the Hepu Plantation despite Typhoon Kai-Tak, which hit the Hepu county of the Guangxi Zhuang Autonomous Region last week. The Group has implemented precautionary counter-measures, including wind breaks planted around the Hepu Plantation, designed to protect the orange trees inside the plantation from typhoons and other adverse weather conditions.
